Some significant facts about facing the challenges of advancing years

- The number of people aged over 85 is predicted to double over the next 20 years.
- In 1952 the Queen issued 255 telegrams for 100th birthday anniversaries; by 2011 this had risen to 12,640
- 1 in 3 people suffer from mental incapacity before they die.
- 1 in 3 women and 1 in 4 men, aged over 65, are likely to go into care.

Some unfounded myths

- Wills, trusts & tax planning are only for the wealthy
- The State will look after me and pay for everything I need if I go into care
- My Family will pay for, and look after, me and deal with things after my death
- "An Englishman's House is his Castle" – my house and assets cannot be taken by anyone but me and my Family
- I can just put everything in my children's name – that will protect me from having to pay care fees
- Everything I have will automatically go to my Wife and children, I don't have to plan anything
- Even though we are not married, my Partner will inherit all I have

- I will always be able to make my own decisions
- There will never be any problems in the family over my assets – we all get on well
- I am too young to start thinking about these matters
- I only need a Will, don't I? That says what is to happen even while I am alive?

DON'T LET YOUR PARENTS', FAMILY'S AND FRIENDS' MISFORTUNES HAPPEN TO YOU.

Using protective trusts to prevent the dilution of family wealth and ensure you and your family enjoy the fruits of your many years' endeavours.

- Protect your wealth from decimation by care fees
- Avoid the costs and delays caused by probate
- Avoid contentious estate claims
- Avoid sideways disinheritance
- Safeguard your assets in relation to bankruptcy
- Remove the fear of relationship failure and its consequences
- Safeguard dependant relative's access to essential benefits
- Reduce exposure to inheritance tax liabilities
